Concussion Research Team Delights at Day at the Capitol

February 20, 2015

Dr. Nic Murray and Interim Dean Dr. Barry Joyner with concussion research graduate students at Georgia Southern's Day at the Capitol 2015.

Georgia Southern University hosted its second annual "Day at the Capitol" event on Tuesday, Feb. 3 in Atlanta. Representatives from the University's academic, research and athletics divisions, and from student organizations were on hand to speak to state lawmakers and showcase the many programs, initiatives and achievements happening at the University.

Dr. Nicholas Murray and his graduate students were invited to display the University's HITS System and research on concussions.
